A Call to Action.....

In order for CLIME to grow and flourish, many people need to work together and separately, taking small steps that collectively impact education. CLIMEaction II is an attempt to rally people to take concrete steps to help our organization pursue its vision of what mathematics education can be like.

Each of you is doing something of interest with Logo. If we can get everyone to share then you can gain from the collective wisdom of the group. I know this is summer and some of you will find this June issue buried with other unread mail, but we would appreciate it if you would give some thought to what your contribution can be. Some of you have expressed interest in helping but weren't sure how.

On the other side are some suggestions. Please take the time now to respond. We need your help!
